CHURCH IN MIDST OF CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

Christmas celebrations have begun at the Federated church this week with social gatherings, singing, the Christmas story throughout, Monday evening and Friday afternoon, and a Christmas party for the little tots of the Sunday school and their mothers Saturday afternoon.

The celebration will be continued into next week, beginning with the program of the Sunday school, to be given at 10:30 a. m. Sunday morning, which will feature the "White Gift Christmas" idea. The money will go to the Near East Relief fund. All friends of the school and church are invited.

This will be followed at 5 p. m. of the same day with the Candle Light service, at which the choir will present the cantata, "The Shepherd's Vision," by Irene Berge. The soloists will be Miss Margaret McCulloch, soprano; Mrs. S. F. Richards, mezzo soprano; Miss Irene Lewis, alto; Arthur Schoof, tenor, and Dr. S. F. Richards, baritone. While the music will comprise the greater portion of the service, Rev. J. A. McElrose will give a brief address. All are invited to attend.

Wednesday afternoon a Christmas entertainment and frolic will be held in the church for the Sunday school.

LOCAL MERCHANTS VICTIMS OF FORGER

Harry R. Reeder, restaurant proprietor, and Max A. Meisel, clothing merchant, have been made victims of a clever young check forger, according to information furnished the police yesterday. Reeder says he lost $25 through the check deal while Meisel is today minus a suit of clothes for which he accepted a defective $20 check in part payment.

Police have an accurate description of the youth who is believed to have passed the checks. Police in all surrounding cities including Milwaukee have been asked to watch for the man. Chief Morrissey feels sure that he will be apprehended within the next few days.

PROSPERITY AND CHARACTER.

The Christmas holiday season, altogether apart from its general importance as a time of relaxation and joyousness, is an admirable barometer of character, a sort of testing opportunity by which we may obtain a pretty accurate estimate of our own and other people's sense of values in human relations. Of course this process is rarely apparent among the other processes of mind and heart that are so busily engaged in the absorbing work of the season.

Nevertheless, if we are honest enough to sit down for a while and take an inventory of our thoughts, desires and actions during the busy days that precede the supreme festival of the year we will find that underneath all its surface activities there is going on a system of character building that might prove exceedingly illuminating as well as improving if we would only accept the lessons that it offers.

In these days of enormous money prosperity the relationship between that commodity and responsibility for its use proposes a valuable test of character. It is natural that the habit of spending liberally should increase enormously during the gift-giving season. This is a trait of modern human beings that may be cordially commended on the ground that it expresses generosity, and a great teacher once said: "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

But we, as intelligent beings, know that to make this generosity an evidence of character there must be honesty and sincerity of motive in the giving. If we follow the proper line of reasoning with ourselves on this point the chances are we will stumble across quite a lot of hypocrisy or more rivalry or, perhaps, some sycophancy and self-seeking that painfully indicate the lack of honesty in our relations with our fellow men. If prosperity has blessed us and our worldly riches have largely increased during the last twelve months our personal responsibility has increased in proportion, and the temptation to indulge a wider, more careless and expensive display of gift-giving is very great and the consequent injury to character is much more severe.

Thus, while our prosperity puts us in a position to indulge more fully our legitimate generosity at the Christmas time, it also places upon us a far greater responsibility as to the character of that liberality. The gift, no matter to whom given, that creates heartaches, jealousy and suspicion of its honesty, poisons both its source and its destination. It is an unfortunate truth that, with the means to express the spirit of Christmas enlarged, mere display that is entirely devoid of sincerity and honest meaning increases. To shame the less prosperous by idle and expensive exhibitions of gift-giving is indirectly and, perhaps, actually in some cases, a cruel thing to do, indicating a callous nature or, at least, an indifference to the feelings of others that amounts to cruelty.

Thus by the misuse of one of the most delightful festivals of modern life we may bring not only keen suffering to many, but create bitterness in numerous lives that not all the counter-joys will wipe out, and at the same time the reactions on our own lives will reveal character utterly unworthy to bear the responsibilities that prosperity such as we now enjoy involves.

WE'RE LOYAL TO THE NICKEL AND THE DIME.

We hear much these days from men who advocate the adoption by the government of coins of new denominations. On account of advancing prices, they tell us we should have seven cent pieces and twelve and a half cent pieces, to use in paying for small articles hitherto sold for five cents and ten cents. These arguments leave us cold, and they do not seem to be carrying Washington by storm, either.

We suspect that the adoption of such coins would have two rather unpleasant consequences. The first would be the early advancement of many five-cent and ten-cent articles to the larger prices of seven and twelve and a half cents, just because it would be easy to do. The second result would be the continuation of those enhanced prices after the time when prices should normally go back to the old level.

The fact that street car fares have been increased in many places to seven cents is used as a basis for one of the commonest arguments in favor of a seven-cent coin. We are asked to think of the time that would be saved if the handling of so many pennies could be eliminated. To all this the obvious reply is that we believe we will stick to the nickel in the hope that fares will come back to it some day. On the whole, we prefer to stand fast on the present decimal currency.

THE CLASTERY OVER DISEASE.

The fear that has existed in the minds of many that the influenza scourge which raged so disastrously a year ago would return with the coming of winter is being allayed by its non-appearance. While this may not be taken as conclusive evidence that it will not again afflict the land, it gives promise that medical science may have found the disease which proved alarmingly fatal.

That we are subject to so few scourges in comparison with the plagues that once decimated populations is due to the advance in medical science and a better knowledge of the laws of sanitation. Not long since it was announced that yellow fever had been entirely eradicated. The success with that disease that annually caused the death of many thousands in tropical America, and even reached well into our own land at times many

DO THE BEST YOU CAN.
When you've done the best you can,
Face the outcome as a man.
If you've kept your record true,
Failure leaves no stain on you.
If you've fairly fought to win
'Till the last return was in,
You may keep your head erect,
You've done all that man expect.

Life demands no prize of gold
When your story shall be told.
Nor does God command your soul
To attain some far-flung goal.
Men have bravely fought and died,
Missing all for which they strive,
And yet glorified on high
By the deeds they dared to try.

Not by victory alone
Is man's earthly glory shown:
He who does the best he can
Has fulfilled his Maker's plan.

It has not been many years since in the southern states the terror inspired by the presence of yellow fever drove people wild and the shotgun quarantine was thought to afford the only immunity from infection. Yet the source of infection was the stegomyia mosquito which was totally disregarded and which no quarantine could reach. Because the source was so entirely unsuspected the danger was unbounded.

Their Opinions

The bulky departmental reports that are being forwarded from Washington to all editorial desks about this time of year are printed on paper of unnecessarily high quality and are printed on one side of the sheet only, thus using twice as much paper as necessary in the vain delusion that more papers will be persuaded to clip portions of them for copy if they are printed that way.—Wausau Record-Herald.

The Boy Sent Some Old Winter Things Home For Dad

Why No Sugar?

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN, Director
Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau,
Washington, D. C.

Washington, Dec. 19.—Why are we short of sugar and paying exorbitant prices for sugar now that the war is over, although we managed to get a fair supply at a fair price while the war was going on?

Discussion in the senate with regard to the bill to continue the life of the sugar equalization board which will otherwise end with this year, has cast much light on this question. The gist of what it shows is this: During the war the American people created a governmental agency to buy their sugar for them, and to regulate its distribution. In effect, acting through congress and the president, we formed a national association for the buying and selling of sugar. It was exactly the same in principle as a community store in which all members of a community chip in to buy goods, and then they are sold to the same people at a stipulated price. The Cuban sugar crop was bought last year by the sugar equalization board with money belonging to the American people, and was sold again at terms which the board was able to dictate. The result was that all through the war we got sugar at 10 or 12 cents a pound, and it was so scarce it was not as scarce as it is now.

Buying Was Discontinued.
With the ending of the war, the sugar equalization board discontinued its most important activity—the buying of sugar. It did not buy the Cuban sugar this year. This was a proper policy according to the view of the matter generally accepted in this country. The war being over, we should discontinue government control as much as possible, and return to the good old law of supply and demand. But that famous old law seems to have worked against us in this instance. The Cuban sugar crop is being scattered all over the world instead of being concentrated in the United States in a gigantic lump. And what has come to this country has come at greatly increased prices. The Cuban sugar producer has gotten as much as 13 cents a pound for some of their raw sugar.

As a result of this situation the congress is asked to authorize the sugar board to buy what is left of the Cuban sugar crop before it is too late, and to continue the life of the board for another year. It seems as if this is the only thing that can save us from an even greater scarcity of sugar now.

Of course there are other causes for the sugar shortage besides our failure to buy the Cuban crop. One thing we are certain of, however, is that our average per capita consumption of sugar used to be about 85 pounds. During the war we were reduced down to 45 pounds by Mr. Hoover with his gospel of conservation in the name of patriotism. Since the war ended, it has risen to about 93 pounds. Senator McNary attributes this rise in sugar consumption to prohibition and prosperity.

Normal Supply Is Short.
Then, too, the world is about 3,000,000 pounds short of the normal sugar supply. Since we are eating more sugar than ever before, and there is less sugar in existence than ever before, it would seem easy enough to put the blame on anyone. But the indisputable fact remains that if the sugar equalization board had bought the Cuban crop this year, you and I would be enjoying the boon of a full sugar bowl right now. Failure to secure the Cuban sugar has caused both scarcity and high prices.

For Cuba was willing to sell us the sugar at a reasonable price. The Cuban sugar producers wrote a letter to the board last July urging it again to buy the sugar crop in a lump. It may seem strange to you that Cuban producers should prefer to sell all of their crop to the United States government at a price somewhere between five and seven cents a pound a pound, when they are getting in some instances as high as 13 cents a pound. But it is really not strange at all. Any producer would rather sell his whole product for the year at one sale and at a fair price than to sell it slowly to many different purchasers at different prices, with all the expense and risk which such a procedure involves. The principal of the community store again comes in. The American people by communal effort can get a better price for their sugar than they can if they sell it in small quantities. In both cases the producer can afford to sell for less because they do not have to bear the expense of retailing, and the risks of many different credits and of a fluctuating market.

Cuba Strong for U. S.
Besides, Cuba would rather have the American dollar and American credit than any other coinage or credit in the world, and Cuba is anxious to stand in with the United States. For all these reasons, Cuban producers were not only willing but anxious to sell to the sugar board. This is proved by their letter to the board which Senator McNary caused to be printed in the congressional record.

Just who is to blame for the fact that sugar was not bought is a moot question. The buck is being passed with great zeal. Some senators blame the president and some blame the board, and the board blames congress. The president, so far, has kept himself out of the matter.

You should be reminded that the sugar equalization board is a committee of eight wise men appointed by the president in 1917, and equipped with both five million dollars from the president's special fund. After it had been appointed the board had itself made a corporation under the laws of Delaware. The president was the sole stockholder of the corporation with the five million which he put up. Just why the board was thus incorporated is not clear—presumably for its own protection. But the fact of its incorporation is not important. It is none the less a governmental agency, acting for the American people, and spending the people's money.

Write Letter to President.
When the board got the letter from the Cuban producers, offering to sell it the Cuban sugar again, it gave the matter long and earnest consideration. It then wrote a letter to the president, which Senator McNary has placed in the record, advising that the Cuban sugar crop be again purchased. This letter was signed by several of the eight members of the board. According to Senator McNary, Dr. Tausig is the only member of the board who did not advise the purchase of the crop. Dr. Tausig is a college economist. He believes in the law of supply and demand. True to his faith, he expressed the opinion that the board should rely upon to bring an adequate sugar supply at a fair price to the United States, and that therefore it would not be necessary to buy the crop. Apparently President Wilson accepted this view. There is no reply from him in the record, but only a letter from one of his secretaries stating that the matter would be brought to his attention "at the first favorable opportunity."

The evident fact is that the sugar equalization board, although seven of its eight members saw that there would be a sugar famine unless the Cuban crop was bought, would not make the responsibility of making this purchase unless it was authorized to do so either by the president or by congress. And neither the president nor congress did anything. Hence, Dr. Tausig, and the law of supply and demand, prevailed and so did the sugar famine.

Money Not Lending.
It should be added that the board did not lack the money to buy the crop. It was not waiting for an appropriation. It was waiting for somebody to give it a push.

According to Senator McNary, the equalization board has still its original five million dollars and also an additional three million dollars in profits. This profit was made by reason of the fact that it had 35 cents per hundred pounds on the sugar it had to cover administrative expense. So our little venture in communal sugar dealing was not altogether unprofitable.

It is said that 2,000,000 tons of the Cuban crop is still available. If the sugar equalization board buys this before it is all gone, the sugar famine will be broken. If it does not, sugar is apt to be still more scarce before it is more abundant.

A LITTLE SLICE O' LIFE.
The baby had been crying
Nearly all night and
Nobody had slept much.
About 5 in the morning
We dropped off for a few winks
And were just enjoying a snooze
When the house was shaken
By an unusual commotion.
The noise was terrific
And we were figuring
That it was the end of the world
Which has been predicted for this month.
By a lot of scientists.
The maid knocked at our door
And said:
"The man has just left
Forty-eight dollars worth of coal
And wants his money."
It was 7:15 o'clock and we had
To get up and write a check
And the ink was frozen.
We believe in early deliveries
Of coal, but it is possible
To overdo a good idea.

High Cost of Living Hits Decennial Census Takers

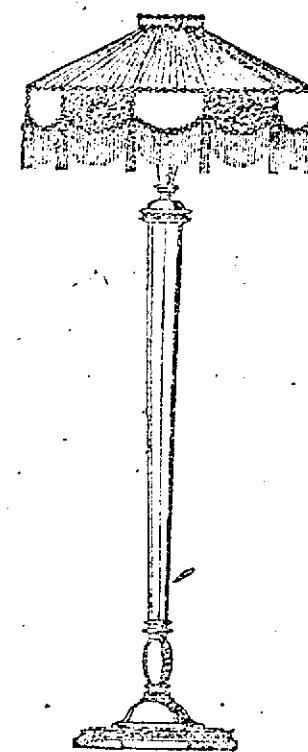

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Washington, Dec. 19.—The high cost of living has hit the fourteenth decennial census, which is to be taken next year, Director Rogers of the census bureau, in asking Congress for $2,550,000 in addition to $15,000,000 already granted for the expenses of the census, said enumerators cannot make a living wage on the old per capita basis, and that revision must be made for a per diem wage, or the payment of traveling expenses.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I read your article in the "An Honest Seeker" and wish to say for her sake and others that the dear know nothing and cannot communicate with the living. I speak from personal experience. I, too, was a firm believer in spiritualism and it almost wrecked my life. My loyalty to God and desire to do right saved me from a terrible fate. In appreciation I desire to convince others that spiritualism is deception and nothing else.

A FRIEND.
To delve into spiritualism unwisely is certainly dangerous. It is difficult to attend numerous trumpet meetings and go into trances without its affecting the mind. There is, however, a sane investigation which is not harmful to a healthy mind. I do not believe it will hurt "An Honest Seeker" to read Basil King's stories or other good articles on the subject. Thank you for your work of caution and the account of your personal experience.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: When a young man goes to take a girl to a show or out riding, is it proper for him to wait on the porch or should he not come in the parlor and wait until the girl gets her hat and wrap? He is always invited in.

GREENIE.
The young man should come in. Properly he is shy and prefers not to encounter the family. Do it in the spirit of his coming in. Perhaps later you can lure him in and let him acquainted so that he will lose his embarrassment.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl fourteen years old and in love with a boy of fourteen. He has gone off to school. Would it be all right for us to correspond? If so, how often would it be proper to write?

WAITING.
Wait for the boy to write to you. If he does it could be all right to answer him. Do not let love enter into your correspondence, however. Write once in two or three weeks. Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a housewife and am troubled with my hands chapping. They get very red and sore and look so badly that I am ashamed to go anywhere. Can you advise me anyway to improve their appearance? I have tried wearing rubber gloves, but they are so clumsy that I prefer to work without them. I have also tried cold cream.

ELEANOR.
Have your druggist prepare a hand lotion of the following ingredients: One ounce of bay rum, two ounces of glycerin, 20 drops of carbolic acid and enough perfume to kill the odor of the carbolic acid. Apply this lotion after having your hands in water. You will find that they lose their red look and will be soft and pretty.

GOOD FEEDINGS
Apple Pudding: Steamed or baked apples, sliced, put in a deep dish; put over them a dough made of one cup of flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one-half spoon salt, wet with sweet milk. Mold lightly and spread on top of apples. Steam or bake. If sour milk is used, use soda instead of baking powder.

Sauce: One-half cup butter, one cup sugar, little nutmeg, one and one-half tablespoons flour moistened with cold water.

Put butter, sugar and nutmeg in saucepan with a bowl of water. When it boils add the flour mixture. Cook until smooth. Sprinkle more nutmeg on after it is turned into bowl. Serve both hot and cold.

Humus: Cornstarch Pudding—Take one quart milk, when near boiling add two tablespoons cornstarch dissolved in a little cold milk, allow it to thicken and add two eggs well beaten with two-thirds cup sugar, stir well and take it from fire. When cool pour it over bananas (six or eight) and put in pudding dish.

Liquid Pudding—One-third loaf of bread (small size), one-half cup sugar, one-half cup raisins, salt, pinch cinnamon and baking soda; butter or shortening, size of an egg; two well beaten eggs.

Soak bread in hot water, add one teaspoon vanilla.

Boil in double boiler, as you can add milk or water if it is too thick. Boil about one hour.

DISCOVERIES
Always keep all crackers in the warming closet of your stove, and whenever you want fresh crackers you always have them. Put them in an ordinary bag and they will keep crisp indefinitely.

When Chopping Dates, citron or raisins for cake or other pastry, mix in with the ingredients a portion of the butter which is to be used in the baking; this prevents the fruit from sticking to the chopper. It is an especially commendable precaution to take when making fruit cake.

Save Rinsing—When rinsing dishes, add to powder or stock stove polish one teaspoon molasses; will give a nice shine to stove and no dust when rubbing.

Before Emptying contents of canned fruit or vegetables from the can which must be cut finely, slash with knife from center, slashing or cutting pieces as small as desired.

After Chopping Suet for mince-meat, cook suet, raisins and small quantity of sugar together for one-half an hour before adding to the mince-meat. In this way you avoid not only the small lumps of suet sometimes found in mince pies, but also the coating of suet in the mouth after eating the same.

Dishwashing Help—When washing dishes, dry glasses and silver. Scald china and turn electric fan on same and in five minutes they are dry, put away and forgotten.

She Married an Average Man

By ZOE BECKLEY.

I get down here the exact words as nearly as I can recall them that passed between Jim and me this evening. It is now long past midnight and with wide eyes and throbbing brain I sit here in my little "get-away room," hoping to tire myself out enough to sleep before daylight.

"Jimmie!"
"Yes, Ann."
"If anything was troubling you—no matter what sort of a thing—would you tell me, wouldn't you, dear, feeling I understand?"

Silence. A slow turning of the head and a long look from Jim in which uneasiness and habitual reticence predominated.

"I don't know what you mean, Ann."
"Listen, Jim!" I crossed the room and sat myself on the arm of his big chair so that we need not be troubled by each other's eyes. "I'm not the narrow-minded girl you married in Centerville. You've been a big improvement at my rapid learning of the world's ways. You've wished I had not grown to be such a disciple of liberty. You've thought me too ready to sympathize with those who believed marriage should not mean imprisonment. Well—now I want you to trust in my broader vision. Don't you believe I see something is worrying you? Don't you know I'll understand Jim?"

Jim's head suddenly went down upon his hands.
"I—don't think you'd understand this, Ann. I don't understand it myself. He spoke with a great effort. I put my arm around his shoulder with sympathetic pressure and waited.

In the town where my mother lived there was a man named Frisbie, who gave me my first job as a kid. I won't go into particulars, but he did much for us.

"His wife was much younger than he. Frisbie was about 60, his wife

The Daily Novelette

IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS.

The dawning of a Sunday morning in the bucolic year of 1917 saw this charming domestic scene.

"Chase yourself," said Granpa Sallie Rouser, playfully raising a cleaver and dropping it edge down, near Granpa Ole Rouser's foot.

He had been picking up a raisin here and a piece of apple there, from the kitchen table, and got away with them quickly, considering he had to gum 'em.

"What yew makin'?" asked Granpa, slipping a piece of citron into his pocket. The old slicker knew well what his spouse of 60 winters was making. He wanted to gain enough time to fill his pockets.

"Mince meat, Ole; now chase yourself," she said, less playfully than before.

"Mince meat? What's mince without brandy? Whew-w!"

"Certainly, without brandy. I'm usin' cider. How kin I use brandy or rum when yew signed the pledge last Sunday?"

"Shucks! Do I hafta know what's in it? Yew talk foolish!"

Then Granpa Rouser coaxed Granma not to put a top crust on the pies and to let them stand outside the window to cool.

"The doctors sez yew don't git no trouble with yewer indigestion of yew do those two things," he argued. He won the day.

That afternoon, while the old lady was napping it loudly in her room,

Prof. Paul Schweitzer, Ph. D., LL. D. stated

"Carefully made experiments reveal no difference whatever in the palatability and digestibility between margarine and butter." Prof. Schweitzer is the head of the Chemistry Department of one of America's great Universities.

And this also was said before Wm. J. Moxley, founder of the margarine industry in America had perfected this wonderful new DIXIE margarine.

Now you have a product even more palatable and more digestible than any other margarine ever made before.

Below you will see a photograph of the glass lined pasteurizer* used to prepare the "Starter"—exactly the same process used in making the best creamery butter.

This new product DIXIE is not only better and purer than any margarine ever made before, but is more nutritious than any butter ever made.

Try it and you'll never want to use anything else.

This is one way to beat the High Cost of Living.

TALK SNIFT AND RUN HABIT

The young lady who coaches "science" in high school—"science" is a sort of job of curious and useless information muffled over in lieu of frankly studying physics, astronomy, chemistry or some other thing of value—the young lady informed the class—the other day that there is no such thing as a "cold." The proper name is coryza, she stated, and that she assured the pupils that weather conditions have no more to do with coryza than they have with diphtheria.

Sometimes science becomes real sensible, after all.

Yet in spite of the young lady who coaches "science" and the old fellow who displays his lack of breeding so much in this column, a lot of people go through life sincerely believing that they "take cold."

My own rebuttal, when confronted by one of those who "take cold very easily" isn't as quick and snappy as I could wish; it is entirely too much like the socialist's rejoinder—if you have ever tried to pin a socialist to his words. I tell the sniffling one that a very large share of people, perhaps one-fourth of all the population, have some chronic nose or throat disease, such as chronic rhinitis or as the patient medicine man prefers to call it, "catarrh." One's sniffling will quickly stuff up and run from a cold draft, wet feet, change of weather or whatnot. He is very soft, very much of a variable molly. He coddles and coddles, and the more he coddles the more sensitive his circulatory system becomes to atmospheric conditions and the more that makes him coddle.

To attempt to convince Mr. A. B. Coddie that he doesn't "take cold" as he believes, is a waste of breath. He puts you down as a nut, in his own mind.

In truth he doesn't take anything as a rule. All his discomforts are mechanical. His nose stuffs up and runs, he feels chilly and uncomfortable.

PERSONETTE

HARVEY WASHINGTON WILEY.
The pure food specialist, lives in Washington in a house overlooking Rock Creek park. He thus confronts a large and windy area of the fresh air which he so delights in. Neighbors say that this air is so fresh in winter that it insists upon creeping in through all cracks uninvited. This is probably due to Dr. Wiley's influence.

Dr. Wiley keeps some chickens in the interest of pure food. These early-rising fowls with voices of unenvied but remarkable vigor. And so the whole neighborhood around Dr. Wiley is a rather early-rising neighborhood. There is a cemented hole in Dr. Wiley's back yard which he claims to have constructed himself. He can be seen daily peering into it with great intensity. From time to time he leads distinguished looking visitors into the back yard to gaze in with him. Neighbors, who have strained their eyes in desperation trying to see what is in the hole, are about to call on him in a body and demand an explanation of the mystery.

Although Dr. Wiley believes in abstemious eating he has one failing—he loves pigs. Denies it. The steward at the National Press club knows this and always makes a point of telling him when this delicacy is on the menu. But one day Dr. Wiley, at a large luncheon and was getting his hat to depart before the steward saw him. The steward, thinking he was just coming in, said that there were some fine pigs' knuckles. Dr. Wiley, nothing daunted, returned to the dining room and ate a large portion.

"Well, have some pigs' knuckles again tomorrow, sir," remarked the genial steward.

"Too bad," said Dr. Wiley. "I have to be in Baltimore tomorrow. But I'll tell you what you might do—bring me my tomorrow's portion right now!"

Was A Blessing Says Mrs. Rosner

Had Almost Given Up Hope But Heart Trouble Is Ended By Tanlac

"Tanlac has surely proved a blessing to me," said Mrs. Joseph Rosner, the wife of an employee of the C. Hennecke Company Iron Works, who resides at 805 Walnut St., Milwaukee, Wis., to a Tanlac representative, recently, continuing she said:
"For five years I could not eat the least thing without suffering the worst sort of misery. I had a very poor appetite and hardly ate enough to keep a bird alive. I had severe pains in my side, and between my shoulders nearly all the time, and I could hardly bear my clothes to touch me. I could sleep very little and would be awake some nights all night long and when I did happen to drop off to sleep I would have the most frightful dreams and would wake up racked with pain, feeling as if each breath would be the last, and I would get up in the morning completely tired out and hardly able to move. My nerves were in such bad condition I was afraid to go out alone, I had no confidence in myself, and had an uneasy feeling all the time as if something terrible was going to happen to me.
"I had tried every treatment and medicine I could hear of and had spent a lot of money but none of them did me any good and I had about given up hope of ever getting any better when I decided to try Tanlac. It proved to be exactly what I needed, for within a few days I began to improve, and now after taking several bottles I have a fine appetite and can eat anything I want and I enjoy my meals. I never have any of those pains in my side, between my shoulders or in the region of my heart, and my general health is all I could ask I go to sleep as soon as I get in bed and never wake up once during the night, and I get up in the mornings feeling bright and refreshed. I have regained my strength and I can do my housework with the greatest ease. If I had only taken Tanlac sooner I would have saved a lot of suffering and money, and I am glad to tell others about it, as I am so thankful for what it has done for me."
Tanlac is sold in Janesville by McCue & Buss and the leading druggists in every town.

MARTIN OVER-RULES BRONSON; WILL BOX BRESNAHAN TODAY

Battle Creek, Mich., Dec. 19.—For a time yesterday afternoon there would be no fight between Bob Martin, heavyweight champion of the American expeditionary forces, and big Bill Bronson at Camp Custer tonight.

When Manager Jimmy Bronson found that Bresnahan was not only the Custer champion, but had a record of twenty-four bouts in America and twenty-six overseas, had met Bombardier Wells, Mike Sullivan and Eddie McGee, and had a record of seventeen knockouts to his credit, he was averse to have Martin meet him on "such short notice," pointing out that Martin had had one tough fight with this week in Arthur Fikey, whom he stopped in the third round at St. Louis.

CADDOCK HAS SNAP THROWING CLAPHAM

Chicago, Dec. 19.—Pussy, that's the word that sums up the match between Earl Caddock, world's heavyweight champion, and Sam Clapham, aspirant for the title at the Second Regiment Armory here. Caddock won two straight falls with a clinch.

The Englishman was downed for the first fall in 21 minutes and 27 seconds with a snap throw. Clapham caught with speed, but he fell in seven minutes and eight seconds. Caddock reassured.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—Reassured by his rather easy victory in straight falls last night over Sam Clapham, Earl Caddock, heavyweight champion, today planned for a busy season. Caddock made his first pay here, appearing since he was discharged from the army and apparently had recovered from the sickness he contracted in France.

HEAVY SCORING IN CITY LEAGUE GAMES

Heavy scoring ruled in the matches of the City league at the Arcade alleys last night. The Samson took two from The Rails and Arcade swiped two from the Gazette. A high one-game score of 963 for five men was made by Samson in its last game. This is only one point below the highest game this season for the league.

Fairly close margins ruled throughout the matches. The only game which The Rails won they procured by only one pin. Four pins kept the Arcade from winning three straight. Lampert was high man for the night with 204, followed by Paulus with 202. High average was made by Lampert at 194. Scores:

SAMSON FIVE IDLE OVER THE HOLIDAYS

After its victory of Wednesday night over the P. D. Yates team of Beloit, Samson "Friday" has no game scheduled until January 3, when they play a return game with Yates at the Y. M. C. A. at Beloit.

Constant practice will be indulged in by the local industrial team until that time, said Manager Dallas yesterday.

Efforts, however, will be made to sign some team during the holidays.

The decision was given by George A. Chanhurain of Milwaukee, chairman of the board of control of the Wisconsin Intercollegiate association, who upheld the referee's decision.

CARDS CANCEL GAME FOR TOMORROW NIGHT

No game tomorrow night for the Cards. This last minute announcement was made this morning by the managers of the local club following telephone communication last night from Waukegan that that team would be unable to show up and requested cancellation. As soon as the notification was received the Cards made every effort to book a game to fill the gap, but the short time remaining prevented. Beloit and Neenah were tried without success.

In giving out the cancellation, Lakofas said that the Woods brothers, the star men of Waukegan's two,

BUCK

Of the STARS AND STRIPES A. E. F.

There are some things we like to remember
And some things we like to forget,
Of the days that we spent
In barracks or tent
And the sun and the snow and the wet.

If you never went fishing for minnies,
Or had a live dog for a friend,
If walking's a bore,
If the woods make you sore,
And the best part of summer's the end.

Then for you all there was to the army
Was guard duty, K. P. and drills,
Beans three times a day,
Parade, reveille,
Inspection, policing and pills.

But if you're a love for the open,
Hate worry, like horses and men,
You'll forget all the grief
About Taps and corned beef
And enlist (if you have to) again.

Now that the American Legion has expressed itself on the bonus question and passed the buck to Congress, ex-Serg. SOL wants to know if Congress is going to pass the bonus to the buck.

RUSSIAN PROPAGANDA?
A Yank just back from the other side vouched for this piece of undiplomatic gossip from Germany. Frau Ebert (wife of the President of the German Republic) doesn't think much of Frau Noske (wife of the Minister of War), they say. After a state banquet of some kind in honor of the new democracy, she is reported to have offered the following remark:

"Her manners are terrible! Why, during the meal she actually combed her hair with a fork! I was so mortified that I almost swallowed my butter-knife."

Local Legion Post
Receiving Challenges
The local post of the American Legion is receiving quite a few challenges in basketball from other legion posts in Wisconsin and Northern Illinois for games here and at the visitor's courts. However, with the post still in a state of infancy, nothing can yet be done to accept them. Early in the new year they may be able to do something in the athletic line according to an announcement made last night. Rockford and Beloit are among the challengers.

EVANSVILLE HI-Y TO ENTERTAIN TEAMS

Evansville, Dec. 19.—The Hi-Y club met Tuesday evening at the home of Marlowe Smith, East Main street. There was a good attendance reported and a good social time enjoyed. After a brief business meeting, in which definite plans were made to register in the state Hi-Y league, some time was devoted to discussion concerning a basketball banquet, to be held the second week in January. It is the plan of the club to have as guests members of the high school basketball team. A general invitation to all the fellows in high school and any young men interested, is extended. A varsity man will most likely be engaged to speak. After discussing these matters, a talk was given by Paul T. Pullen, who explained the banking business in its details. Mr. Pullen answered questions and lead a discussion of their subject.

The meeting closed with refreshments and a social hour. The next meeting will be held at the home of Lawrence Jones, with Raymond Knapp as host.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAYS AT DELAVAN TONIGHT

Traveling to Delavan tonight, the Janesville high school basketball team will play its second game of the season there against the school for the Deaf.

Outcome of the game cannot be predicted. From a bunch of 50 candidates for the local school's first team, Coach Crabtree has gradually been weeding out his material until a list of 6 regulars with about 15 others as reserves has been picked.

The formation of a second team, practically as strong as the first has taken place, thus giving the "varsity" excellent opportunities for still practice. Each afternoon of this week, practice has been held in the gym.

Delavan has a team that is reported to have played together for the last five years. When Janesville played them last year, the blues came away victors by the score of 33 to 17.

Because of the present condition of train service, the team will have to journey to Delavan early this afternoon and will not be able to return tonight.

Perhaps it is a little early to say much about the outlook for basketball at the high school, but with so many sophomores and other lower classmen out this year, Coach Crab-

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

The women who worked so diligently during the war for the Red Cross and other war organizations are not going to stand by now and watch a slight of hand that will take the work and worry is over. They are already forming clubs and local societies to aid the people of the devastated countries and to help the fatherless children of this country. The progressive women are helping the obnoxious soldiers to find employment and they are helping the untrained soldier to find himself for some special work.

Miss Evelyn Von of Los Angeles has gone a bit farther than some of these women and she founded the American Women's Legion, which she hopes to make a national affair. At present she is in Washington in an effort to establish a branch of the organization there. All Californians in the city are eligible to unite with the association. The principal aim and purpose of the organization, according to Miss Von, is the amelioration of the condition of wounded men.

GRAIN

Chicago Review.
Chicago, Dec. 19.—Lightness of offerings tended today to strengthen the corn market, and so too did reports that the Edge foreign exchange bill was ready to be signed. On the other hand, bulls were more or less disturbed by new breaks in foreign exchange. Opening prices, which ranged from 27¢ decline to 3¢ advance, with January $1.40 to $1.40 1/2, and May $1.25 1/2 to $1.25, were followed by a moderate general setback and then by upturns all around.

Oats reflected the changes in corn. After opening unchanged to 4¢ lower, including May at 80¢ to 81 1/2¢, fluctuated within narrow limits.

Provisions were dull and weak. The market lacked any aggressive support. Toward the last, sentiment became somewhat bearish, owing more or less to gossip that Canada and New England were re-selling to the west. Prices closed unsettled, 3/4¢ to 1 1/2¢ net lower, with January $1.39 1/2 to $1.39 1/2, and May $1.24 1/2 to $1.24 1/2.
